11. How to calculate the interest amount in case of payment by way of Demand Draft?

Res:

Please visit the weblink, <https://rights.kfintech.com/callmoney> and follow the below steps:

- (i) Click on the interest Calculator.
- (ii) Enter no. of shares.
- (iii) The interest amount is displayed.
- (iv) Total amount payable with interest would also be displayed.

Please note that the interest calculation is dynamic and the interest amount and the total amount payable displayed is just an indicative amount and unless the investor gets the demand draft issued on the same day as visiting the weblink of KFintech and also sends the demand draft the same day to KFintech at Hyderabad, the interest amount would vary and thus investors are requested to ensure correctness of interest amount before sending the demand draft to KFintech at Hyderabad towards the First and Final Call money. If interest has been inadequately paid, the demand draft is liable to be rejected and, in such instance, the First and Final Call money would be deemed to have been unpaid.

To ensure correct interest, investors are encouraged to make payment online through R-WAP.
